

Interfor Corporation is committed to responsible stewardship of the environment.

- We minimize our environmental impact, reduce emissions and waste, implement controls to minimize or prevent pollution, and strive for continuous improvement of our environmental performance.
- We operate in compliance with all applicable environmental legal requirements.
- We implement environmental management systems for all operations, including adhering to specified environmental objectives.
- We identify potential environmental risks and implement measures to eliminate or mitigate those risks.
- We manage climate-related risks and opportunities by adapting to present and predicted impacts of climate change.
- We regularly review our practices and procedures to monitor and improve on environmental performance, and to report on the environmental status of our operations, including to the Board of Directors.
- We provide training for employees and contractors in environmentally responsible work practices.
- We manage our forest resources in a sustainable manner that is environmentally sound, socially beneficial, economically viable, and ensures forest renewal.
- We manage our log supply chain to avoid procuring illegally produced wood, or wood from areas that are susceptible to unsustainable forestry practices.
- We provide opportunities for our shareholders, directors, employees, communities, customers, and other stakeholders to engage with us on environmental issues.
- We encourage our partners, vendors, suppliers, haulers and other service providers to uphold the principles in this Policy.
- We promote sustainable forest management and the role of wood products in combating climate change.
